WHO WE ARE

One Company. Three Services. Unlimited Ideas.

Established in 1987, Octametro came out of the idea to provide high quality trade show services that then expanded to offer event production and retail design and construction. We understood that your marketing efforts had to meet certain goals: impressing your audience with your product or service, perfectly fitting the image of your brand and generating results. What began out of a small garage grew into a large exhibit producing service with offices in the US, Costa Rica, Guatemala and Panama.

We deliver high-quality, functional spaces –whether temporary or permanent– for trade show exhibits, retail and events. Combining our expertise of trade show services with a realistic approach to design and construction allows us to deliver unique spaces while minimizing the chances of errors or delays. We establish a line of continuous, transparent communication to guide you and to make the process efficient and timely.

Ambitious Companies

Thirty years of experience in three industries

I have known the Octametro company for several years.

The people are very creative, smart and responsible. After I gave them our first project about 10 years ago, they have only delivered nothing but excellence! Even under pressure due to our different expectations, they have always stepped up to the highest level, and always exceeded the task on hand! I would recommend them for any new store design, expo stands and office renovations.

Octametro deserves the success they have today!

I helped start up the first office here in the United States My dad owned an advertising agency in North Carolina and gave us our first project. It was a lucky break but it certainly didn't come without its challenges. We had to build on that momentum competing not only with well-established names but with ourselves; we were determined to make the "American Dream" happen and thirty years later, they did just that.
